

Form W-4 (2011)

Personal exemptions: Enter the number of exemptions you claim for yourself and your dependents. See instructions for more information.

Employer's federal income tax withholding: Enter the number of withholding allowances you claim for yourself and your dependents. See instructions for more information.

Number of allowances: Enter the number of allowances you claim for yourself and your dependents. See instructions for more information.

Back pay: If you received back pay for a previous year, enter the amount. See instructions for more information.

Additional federal income tax: Enter the amount of additional federal income tax you want to have withheld from your pay. See instructions for more information.

Household employer's federal income tax withholding: If you are a household employer, enter the amount of federal income tax you want to have withheld from your household employee's pay. See instructions for more information.

Additional state, local, and foreign income tax: Enter the amount of additional state, local, and foreign income tax you want to have withheld from your pay. See instructions for more information.

Other: Enter any other information that may affect your federal income tax withholding. See instructions for more information.

D

A

